JANESVILLE'S OPPORTUNITY

If the voters of Janesville, men and women, permit the $60,000 bond issue for the purchase of a site for a high school to fail of passage at Tuesday's election, this city is going to suffer a relapse from which it will not recover for at least a year or more. The running start which we have won toward a live industrial city will be checked, and instead of Spring Brook being a suburb of Janesville, Janesville will be a suburb of Spring Brook.

This is not our personal opinion. This statement is made on information which has come straight from those who know what the outcome will be, if Janesville does not do her duty in preparing for a larger growth in population. This does not come directly from the General Motors' officials. They are not engaged in making threats. They are too much concerned in the success of their organization here, and in the future of Janesville.

The officials of the General Motors corporation and the Samson Tractor company have repeatedly declared that they would not bring families to Janesville, unless Janesville was ready for them. They have taken this stand in a spirit of co-operation. They want men in their factories who represent the best class of workmen. They want men of intelligence and these men will consider the advantages Janesville has to offer before they decide to make the city their future home. However, it is most reasonable to suppose that if Janesville does not measure up to the standard by going half-way in bringing about these conditions, the General Motors will take the matter in their own hands. They have spent one and one-third millions of dollars here already. They have one unit ready for operation. They are ready to start a second and a third. They are not going to scrap what they have built. Neither are they going to charge that million and a third up to profit and loss and let the unit already built stand idle. If they cannot get the class of workmen they desire, they are going to get workmen who are not so particular as regards living conditions and educational advantages for their children. That is a natural conclusion based upon similar situations which have arisen in other cities.

This is not a threat to club taxpayers into spending money for something not practical. It is an attempt to place the facts before those who hold the future destiny of the city in their hands. There is nothing being done under cover. Every man and woman who has had anything to do with the preliminary steps in obtaining a high school adequate for our needs have been open and above board. Those officials upon whom devolved the duty of choosing a site have carried out their part of the task in a business-like manner. They have not only fulfilled their obligations under the law but they have gone farther and called into consultation, representatives of the city, of civic bodies, of state engineers and architects to aid them in selecting the best available location for a new high school.

The victory or defeat of this issue appears to hinge upon whether the new high school shall be located upon the east side or the west side of the river. Many who oppose it have brought up the argument that the location is not desirable, because it is situated upon the river and because of that location it would be unhealthy and dangerous for the pupils who will attend.

Records do not show that the people who have lived along South Main street, near the river for years, have been called by death any more frequently than those residing in other parts of the city. The pupils who will attend that school are not little folks who might tumble into the river and drown. They will be boys and girls entering young manhood and womanhood.

The building of a high school is the first big step that will have to be undertaken by the city. Others will follow in rapid succession. Now is the time to cast aside the petty jealousies which have cropped out in the past and assemble as one great community. Out over those projects which will mean prosperity and comfort, ready the property owners in this city have felt the benefits which have resulted from the location of the Samson Tractor company in this city. They have felt them in dollars, in cents, and with an increased population of people working for good wages, that prosperity will increase.

The question then, is not on the site. That has been settled. It is whether we are going to furnish the funds to purchase a site for a high school which will meet the requirements of the time. We need a new high school. That cannot be disputed by anyone. The parents in this city do not want their children sent to white-washed study rooms in the basement of the present high school, where they must prepare their lessons at old tables stuck in corners. Neither do they want their children to climb narrow single stairways to a room under the eaves where they are not only subjected to poor ventilation, but are menaced should fire break out. That condition exists now in a building constructed to accommodate about one-half the number of pupils for which it was originally intended.

If Janesville meets the emergency now, the future is safe. If she turns down this first opportunity to show a spirit of progress we will sink back into that somnolent state which has kept us in the mediocre class of cities in the middle west.

Voters, it is up to you. You can make this city prosperous; a fit place to educate your children and the home of high grade, contented workmen, or you can allow it to either drift along on the stream of lassitude, or be the stopping place for a conglomerate mass of undesirable floaters.

SCORES OF FARMERS PLEASED WITH WORK OF SAMSON TRACTOR

Demonstrations of the Samson tractor on various farms in Rock county during the past week attracted much attention from scores of farmers. Alvah Maxfield, one of the first men in Rock county to purchase one of the Samson outfits, gave a demonstration on his farm in the town of Janesville on the Evansville road about 5 miles northwest of this city, Thursday afternoon. Over 25 farmers living in the immediate vicinity saw the tractor perform.

Mr. Maxfield started his actual spring plowing yesterday morning and continued throughout the day. He is well pleased with the splendid work of the machine.

Plowing at a depth of 8 inches and turning perfect furrows, the machine was working well yesterday. Dragging a 2-bottom gang plow it traveled at a speed faster than a person walks, and chugged along steadily all day. It went up a 40 degree incline on the wheat field which was being plowed, with comparative ease.

On the other side of the field Mr. Maxfield had another man at work plowing with a four-house team and a two-bottom plow. The contrast between the two outfits was striking.

MILITARY POLICIES UNCHANGED

RECENT EVENTS IN HUNGARY FAIL TO SHAKE OUR PROGRAM.

244,186 TROOPS HOME IN MONTH

Return of American Soldiers is Proceeding Now Faster Than Ever.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 29.—Recent events in Hungary, General March announced today, have resulted in no change in the military policy of the United States so far as the war department has been advised.

Return of troops from France is proceeding even faster than scheduled originally, he said, and nothing had occurred to interfere with this movement.

Troop movements homeward during the month of March, General March said, aggregated 244,186 against an estimate previously made for the month of 200,000.

U. S. TROOPS HEAR OF CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Coblenz, March 29.—The announcement by the war department of its intention to send from the United States volunteers enlisted for use in replacing members of the permanent army of occupation who desire to leave the service reached third army headquarters today.

The announcement was made by the department to the army reserve and regular army divisions, which are due for replacements and which contain a large percentage of men who volunteered for the duration of the war, and among national guardsmen who are eager to return home as soon as possible.

A plan also is being worked out for the segregation into the regular army divisions of those reserve and regular officers and such other officers as desire to remain in the regular army service. The department by this means, contemplates relieving as soon as feasible those reserve and national guard officers who desire to return to the United States for business or other reasons.

CHILDREN PLANNING VICTORY GARDENS

An enthusiastic response has been made by the school children to the plan of having victory gardens, and the seed committee has been swamped with demands for seeds. The committee is working night and day, replenishing its stock, and has had to telegraph for some kinds of flower seeds which were entirely sold after only two days among the schools.

Members of the committee sold 500 packages during the first day, when the sale was held at the Washington school. Yesterday, at the Adams building, the sale totaled 1,013 packages. The penny package idea is fostered by the City Federation of Women, and is in complete charge of a committee headed by Miss Agnes Weber.

Drug Stores Can't Support Red Noses

No longer can the drug stores sell primrose noses and sunset cheeks in liquid form.

Henceforth it is the pure powder for seekers of camouflaged complexions, though paint might get by if it is not mixed with alcohol.

The new internal revenue law contains this provision. Any dealer selling liquor in any town or state in which the sale of liquor is prohibited by local or municipal laws shall pay an additional tax of $1000.

The attention of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league was called to this clause Janesville where it is believed that the drug stores are selling liquor. The league took it to the Milwaukee internal office for interpretation. They said "Any one selling liquor in quantity of less than five gallons at one sale whether it be a saloon or a retail drug store, and therefore subject to the additional $1000 tax."

"The above law will curb two of the worst evils in dry territory, namely drug stores and medicine wagons," said R. B. Hutton, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league. "The other big evil is the booze prescribing physician, and he will be stopped by the law as he is called the prescription he is a seller subject to the $1000 tax and prosecution in addition thereto. All violators of the law will be fully prosecuted. No longer can the quiet seller of Uncle Sam by paying $25 when caught and have Uncle Sam asked that he be not prosecuted."

This article will doubtless prove interesting to local dealers as the attention of the law in dry towns near Janesville.

CRUEGER CONVICTED, BUT LAWYER'S PLEA WINS HIM LENIENCY

Judge George Grimm in circuit court yesterday of E. H. Ryan, attorney for Fred H. Krueger of Beloit, held under charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Judge Clark of Beloit, after hearing arguments from Krueger's attorney, and District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie for the state, held that the action of Municipal Judge Clark of Beloit in calling upon Municipal Judge Harry L. Maxfield of the Janesville municipal court, on a change of venue, instead of sending the case to circuit court, was a correct decision.

Judge Maxfield took up the case this morning and after hearing the pleas of Attorney William H. Dougherty, called into the case by his mother and father of Krueger, who came and of Attorney Ryan, and the recommendations of District Attorney Dunwiddie, sentenced the prisoner to three years in Wisconsin, but on appeal the sentence was reduced to a total of $150. The prison sentence was suspended but Krueger was placed in charge of the state board of control.

It was the appealing plea of Attorney Dougherty which won leniency for the young man. He is married, has a child, comes from a well-respected and honorable family, and previously had a clean record.

"Youthful vampires" was held accountable for his downfall. Testimony, taken at Beloit, showed that Lane City was the cause of poor character, although the two in the affair with the defendant and Myron Bemis, Beloit, were but 14 and 16 years of age.

Attorney Ryan reviewed the testimony in the case. The district attorney made recommendations advocated by Judge Grimm after the circuit court had heard the writ of prohibition from the state board of control.

Krueger's parents were in court and plainly showed the humiliation reflected on them by the action of their son. The latter made arrangements with his father to pay the fine, but after Judge Maxfield assured himself that proper action for repayment was entered into.

The court subjected Krueger to several questions. Krueger, in municipal court, entered a plea of guilty to the charges and was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three years in Wisconsin, but the sentence was reduced to a total of $150 to the discretion of the state board of control. He is single.

Chicks' High Cost Eternal Problem

The chickens are coming. So is Easter. Wee wee yellow chickens are beginning to peep forth from their shells, not a bit wet and funny, but the chickens really are, though. Bunny rabbits, ducks, and all the menagerie species of the egg hunting day are arriving to make the acquaintance of the children of the city.

A bunch of the feathered world gathered in a candy store window thinking what a long time it was going to be until Easter. Three whole weeks until April 29.

Two little admirers were looking in from without. Their pocketbooks wouldn't stand more than a look. "A nickel's a lot of money when you haven't got it," says they with a sigh.

The chicks only blinked.

France in Boundary Demand.
Paris, March 29.—In her claims before the council of four today, France asked that her boundaries, as fixed by the treaty of Paris, May 30, 1814, be restored to her, rather than the Saar basin. In the Rhine province on the left bank of the Rhine, it was stipulated, the Germans should not be permitted to establish fortifications, occupy the territory with armed forces nor control the railways. On the Alsace-Lorraine line, it was demanded that the Rhine should be the natural frontier of France.

The treaty of Paris in 1814 provided that France renounce her claims on Belgium and the left bank of the Rhine. The treaty of 1815, however, they existed in 1812, before the revolution. This compelled France to confine herself to the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine west of the Rhine. Those territories have been French since 1689. It was erroneously reported from Paris last night that France had demanded her 1914 frontiers, which would have excluded Alsace-Lorraine from her claims before the peace conference.

Report Mission Interrupted.
Paris, March 29.—The mission was interrupted here last night that the inter-allied mission at Danzig had been interrupted. This morning's newspapers, however, declare that no confirmation of this rumor had been received.

According to the Paris edition of the London Daily Mail, a telegram received at the French foreign office reported serious disorders had occurred at Danzig, instigated by the pan-Germans. The demonstrations are declared to have been directed at the inter-allied mission. Although no hostilities have been reported, the mission is reported to have been virtually stopped from functioning, its work being hampered and it being isolated from the world.

All the newspapers agree in the view that if it were established that violence had been employed against the mission an extremely critical situation would have been created.

Additional Witnesses Are Called in Krueger Trial

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Neillsville, Wis., March 29.—Several additional witnesses were to testify today in the trial of Mrs. Caroline Krueger and her two sons, charged with murdering Harry Jensen, a school agent at Withee last fall when a posse was attempting to arrest the Krueger boys for failing to register in the army draft.

Chronology of Fight For School Site Told

Because we forget so quickly, let us recall how a site for the new high school was chosen.

On Jan. 16, last, 28 men met at the office of the Chamber of Commerce—the mayor and common council, and the city engineer, the vocational school board, the board of education and the directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The board of education called them together to ask their advice upon the question of building a high school and of the site for it. Mayor Valentine presided at the meeting and Leo Parkin was secretary.

The need of a new high school and of various sites, and the financial problems to be met were discussed. A meeting voted unanimously that a new high school ought to be built. Then was voted to appoint a committee of two from each of the bodies present, with the addition of two business men, to look over the sites that had been discussed at the meeting, and any others that they saw fit, and to report their recommendations to a public meeting to be held at the city hall a week later.

The committee to recommend a site was as follows: From the city council, Emil Pautz, E. H. Ransom; from the vocational board, Fred Smith; from the Chamber of Commerce, V. P. Richardson; from the board of education, Francis Grant and J. T. Hooper; from the Chamber of Commerce, H. S. Haggart, William McVicar; from the business men, Joseph Connors, F. E. Buss.

A meeting of ten men met and discussed the matter, viewed sites, and then, on Wednesday, January 22, they reported their recommendations to the public meeting that had been held in the city hall.

There were present at the meeting 75 to 100 people. Alderman Welsh presided and Jessie Egan was appointed secretary. The committee of ten reported to the meeting that they were unanimously in favor of the Main street site for the new high school and the meeting unanimously approved their report. There was discussion and addresses by Alderman Welsh, Alderman Horn, Alderman Dulin, William Doughty, and others upon the question of how soon the building should be built after the land was secured, and the decision of the meeting was that it should be begun at once.

And after these two meetings and conferences and discussions, the board of education adopted the recommendation of the committee of ten men, and of the public meeting, and the Main street site was chosen as the one satisfactory to everyone who had given time and thought to it.

A SURE WAY TO CUT YOUR SHOE EXPENSE

"It has been quite an expense to keep my boy in shoes because he is very hard on them. But since wearing shoes with Neolin Soles his shoe bill has been reduced 66 2/3%," says J. Allison Allen of Amity, Kansas.

On the importance of Neolin Soles as a money saving factor there are thousands of parents who agree with Mr. Allen. Because Neolin Soles give extra wear where most shoes wear out quickest, they cut your shoe bills down.

Ask for Neolin-soled shoes when next new shoes are needed, either for yourself or for your children. You can get them at any good shoe store. And take your worn shoes to the repair shop and have them re-bottomed with Neolin Soles.

Remember—these soles are created by Science to be waterproof and comfortable, as well as long wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

"The invisible, the unseen, the unseeable things rule the world.
Can you see your own mind? Can you see God in the heavens?
Real things cannot be seen, and this thought should more see Faith?
Rear things cannot be seen, and this thought should more firmly fix in our minds the imperishable value of Confidence and Faith. Without these two factors in life, and we are but unbelieving buccaneers."

—The Silent Partner.

This old truth, so truly stated, is worth considering, because it is not always appreciated. It is so much easier to skim the surface than it is to delve beneath for hidden treasure, that many of us go through life with our eyes fixed on the ground, and the things about us which are visible, are the only things that interest us. We are satisfied with the statement that "there is nothing new under the sun," and so cease to marvel. Yet the fact remains that many of the men are still living, who made the great discoveries of the last generation.

It is true that nothing has been added to the work of creation, which was finished and pronounced good, so long ago. The great veins of coal, of iron, and of copper, were planted in the bowels of the earth by an invisible hand, and remained dormant until the demand for their use was so urgent that discovery was made of their existence, and we utilize them without thought or appreciation. There is nothing new about the air which we breathe, or the atmosphere which envelops us, but it remained for men of the present day to discover its great possibilities, and so we are able to throw our voice across the continent, at the speed of light and pick up the wireless message in mid ocean.

The airplane which sails away as gracefully as a bird, until lost to sight beyond the clouds, is a product of nature's great store houses, and the power which propels it was dormant in the air veins of the earth until man discovered it and brought it to the surface. The air which support the wings, and which was monopolized by the birds for so many centuries, is as old as time. This new means of transportation, so effectively utilized during the war, was born in the brain of a man of great faith and wonderful vision, and no man can forecast what the future may develop, for this new air route is still in the infancy. The next generation is more likely to be traveling in the air than on the ground. This is no argument against the Bond issue for good roads, for they will be in demand for time to come.

Speaking about this county bond issue, which is to be voted on at the coming election, there should be no hesitancy in deciding how to vote. Good roads are recognized as of a much importance as rail roads, and they add to the value of property more than any investment that can be made. The increase in taxes for interest and principal is so small that it is insignificant. It amounts to less than the money required for gravel roads, during the next twenty years, and insures a road that represents face value for the money invested. Every trunk line in the county should be concrete.

"The greatest good to the greatest number," is a principle which applies with peculiar force to neighborhood and community life. One argument used against the good roads bonds issue is that the only people benefited, are the people who live on the trunk lines. This is not true, because trunk lines that can be used every day in the year, add to the value of every farm in the county, and within a reasonable time the cross roads will be surfaced and kept in repair. When relieved of heavy traffic, this will not be expensive. The automobile has become a necessity on the farm, and the truck will soon take the place of the wagon in moving farm products. Good roads appeal to the farmer more than to any other class, and the investment will benefit all the people in the county.

What is true of the county Bond issue is equally true of the city as regards the sixty thousand dollars needed for the purchase of a site for the new high school. Why there should be any opposition to this proposition, is difficult to understand, unless it is found in that fact that some of us have waited so long for the town to grow, that we have not yet awakened to the fact that the growth has already started and moving so fast that we are liable to be left at the tail end of the procession. For the first time in the history of the city, real estate has practically doubled in value in ninety days. Men don't dare to put a price on property unless they are willing to let it go. This is not a speculative, but a legitimate demand. The tide is running this way and it has only just commenced.

The influx of new people—and there will be thousands of them—means new tax payers to help bear the burdens. It means new blood and new enterprise, and demands enlarged facilities of all kinds and among the most important is the High School, already crowded. We are to vote on a bond issue for a site, a particular site, a matter left to the Board of Education, a small body of intelligent men more competent to decide wisely, than would be a mass meeting of citizens. Let us meet the issue squarely, and without prejudice, bearing in mind the principle of the greatest good to the greatest number. The Chamber of Commerce has adopted this principle, in fact it is the corner stone of the organization. Its work is demonstrating every day the power of harmony and united effort. The city must have a new High School building and meet the prosperity which has come to us unsolicited, and we should be glad of the opportunity to say by our vote "Yes" to the demand.

There are two classes of workers in the world. People who work entirely with the hand, with but little or no thought connected with which God endows every created soul in normal condition, with which God endows every created soul in normal condition. The hand is the visible working power, but the brain and the mind through which it operates, are the invisible forces which contribute so much to life and the world about us. The brain may be dissected and analyzed to a degree, but the mind which thinks, and prompts to action is a mystery as profound today, as when first created. It is the power within us that invests and discovers, and prompts to action. It is also the throne of judgment, influenced by education and environment which decides for us what is right and wrong. A mighty engine of power, yet, invisible and silent in its work.

Apothry mystery, still more profound, is the soul. That organ within us which no eye hath ever seen, and whose location has not been determined. Efforts have been made to catch a snap shot of the soul when it leaves the body at death, but to no avail. So we are content to believe that the soul is the life. The Spirit of God breathed into man at creation and constantly prompting him to do right throughout the days of his pilgrimage. The immortal part of us which goes back to God when released. The still small voice, so quiet that no ear can catch the sound of its working, yet so powerful that there are no bounds to its influence.

The world's great capital is not money or lands, or the material things visible to the eye, and which may be inventoried at a price. The thing which holds the world's business and financial structure together, and supplies capital for the individual, is faith, another invisible force of wonderful power. Without it, nations are shattered and go to pieces, as Russia has done, and individuals become derelicts along the broad highway of life. Faith or confidence is sometimes misplaced, as it seems to have been in the peace conference so long in session at Paris. Errors of judgment, and perhaps not of the heart, have permitted the golden opportunity to slip away from us, until defiant Germany and demoralized Europe, render the peace problem most difficult to solve, but God House is still on the job and he promises to straighten out the tangle.

Life is what we make it. If we use the things about for our own good, and the good of humanity, mindful of the fact that the invisible forces are at our command, and ready to help us, success will crown effort, and we shall not have lived in vain.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

BILL HOHENZOLLERN.

If he had loved the green of trees, The drowsy hum of summer bees, If friends had dared to call him Bill, If friends had dared to call him Bill, He might have been a monarch still. If he had ever stopped to play, With children at the close of day, Or ridden them upon his knee, He might not now an outcast be.

If he had ever turned aside And dropped his dignity and pride, Forgetting that he was a king, To do a little neighboring With humble men who crossed his way, If he had ever spent one day In comradeship—he might not now Have haired written on his brow.

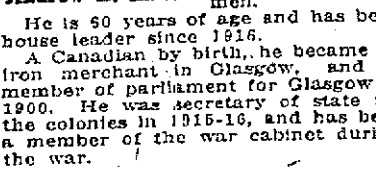

Had he loved skies and running brooks, And tangled woods and fishing nooks, And learned to call the birds by name, And fed them crumbs as they grew tame; Oh had he ever left his throne To talk with men, he might have known Some secrets of the human heart, And better played the monarch's part.

If home had ever meant to him More than a castle, cold and grim; If he had tended it with care, Planted the roses blooming there; Had learned to laugh and romp and sing, Been more a man and less a king, He might not now in Holland wait The dreadful verdict of his fate.

That man who worships power alone Shall suddenly be overthrown; Who turns away from men and God Shall fall at last beneath the rod. He that would seek for world success Must tread the ways of humbleness And find in the gentle ways and pure The royalty that can endure.

ANDREW BONAR LAW.
Right Honorable Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the house of commons, has announced that the government is now considering the building of a tunnel under the English channel as its big project for post bellum activities. This immense scheme, which has been discussed for a century, is now about to be realized, because it furnishes a means of finding employment for discharged soldiers. Andrew Bonar Law, government spokesman and a sponsor of the project, is one of England's most brilliant statesmen. He is 60 years of age and has been house leader since 1916. A Canadian by birth, he became an iron merchant in Glasgow, and a member of parliament for Glasgow in 1900. We Think of the 7%
NOTES

When The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company's $3,600,000 issue of 5-year, 7% Notes was put on sale at the Securities Department, Public Service Bldg., Dec. 18, the price was fixed at par for cash, to all buyers alike.

An exception has been made to this rule.

A few days ago the Executive Committee of the Employees' Mutual Benefit Association asked the management to set aside $200,000 of the Notes to be bought by E. M. B. A. members, at par but on a ten-payment plan.

The management agreed to do this, provided that there shall be no payroll deductions, that all subscriptions shall be strictly voluntary, and that none but E. M. B. A. members can buy on installments.

Under the plan adopted, E. M. B. A. members can subscribe for a $50, a $100, a $500 or a $1,000 Note, pay for it in ten equal monthly installments, draw 7% interest on the payments—payable when last installment is paid and Notes delivered. In case of need we can get our money back any time before the last payment is due.

A good many of us had already bought some of the Notes. We knew of no better or safer way to make our saved money earn more money. This ten-payment plan will give a thousand or two more of us a chance to fatten our pay checks with some of the 7% interest.

The $50 Note pays $3.50 a year—$1.75 May 1, $1.75 November 1.

The $100 Note pays $7 a year—$3.50 May 1, $3.50 November 1.

The $500 Note pays $35 a year—$17.50 May 1, $17.50 November 1.

The $1,000 Note pays $70 a year—$35 May 1, $35 November 1.

You collect interest by clipping coupons—the same as on your Liberty bonds—and taking them to the nearest bank.

You get your principal back in cash November 1, 1923.

If you need your money before November 1, 1923, bring your Notes to our Securities Department and we will put them on sale.

Tales of the Friendly
Forest

Now, let me see, where did we leave off in the story before this? Wasn't it just where the Old Horse was singing his song about automobiles that had left so many horses without anything to do?

Well, as soon as he had finished his song, the little rabbit's elephant friend began a song which he had made up when he was traveling with the circus. And this is how it went: "The circus tent is big and white, And it's just like home to me; And I love to play in the great big ring."

"Oh, there I long to be," he said. "Yes, the things we used to do at ways seems the best, I grumble about it. I had to draw the old buggy, but how I wish I were back again at the old place."

And then the elephant sighed, only when he sighed it sounded like a gale of wind. "Yes, that's the way I feel," he said. "I used to grumble about it, but now I can only get back to the circus I'd stand on my tail, even if I broke it," and then that great big beast wiped a tear from his left eye with the tip of his right ear.

Well, just then Mrs. Bunny called out from the kitchen window. The cherry pie is baked! And then you should have seen them all scamper back to the house. Maybe I shouldn't say the elephant scampered, for he was too big, but he got there in all the same. And after they had all seated themselves on the back steps, Mrs. Bunny gave them each a big piece of cherry pie.

But, oh, dear me. All of a sudden the elephant began to choke, and the tears came out of his eyes, and by and by they made a great big puddle on the ground and Mrs. Duck came over and took a swim.

"Let me pound you on the back," said the kind lady rabbit. But he had swallowed a cherry pit the wrong way, and although Mrs. Bunny pounded him with all her might, he still choked and choked.

And then he got black in the face. I mean he grew a great deal blacker, for he was black, anyway, you know. "What shall we do?" cried Billy Bunny, for he was getting dreadfully worried about his kind elephant friend. And then Mrs. Duck swam up close and said:

"Open your mouth, Mr. Elephant!" And when he did she put her long neck way down his throat and pulled out the cherry pit with her big yellow bill. "Wasn't that clever in her?"

Well, I just guess it was. "Ah, I feel better now," said the poor elephant, and then he went over to the old well and let down the bucket and filled it with water. And then he had it up and drank it all down with one swallow. I mean after he had sucked it up in his trunk and squirted it down his throat.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

PIMPLES

Pimples have a mean way of appearing on the face at the particular time of life when the victim is anxious to look his or her best, to wit, in adolescence. And as if that were not enough, they seem to prefer the most pulchritudinous victims—probably of the complexion of nature to keep these from feeling too proud.

The cause of pimples is, first the cause of blackheads, which was explained in a preceding talk. But in order to convert a blackhead (comedone) into a pimple (pustule) certain germs capable of producing inflammation and pus-formation must be introduced. These germs seem to go naturally present on or in the skin of everybody. It matters not whether the skin is kept visibly clean or looks dirty. Cleanliness does not appreciably alter the germ life on the skin.

The prevention of pimples is the prevention of blackheads, which was also explained in a preceding talk. The cause of blackheads is a tendency toward constant recurrence of pimples or pustules or boils. It is often helpful to take internally two or three times a day after food from half to one ordinary yeast cake mixed to fluid consistency with water, fruit juice or broth of any kind.

The blackheads should be treated as described in the last talk in this series. The sulphur lotion suggested for the blackheads is particularly valuable if pimples are present also. Equal parts of sublimed sulphur, glycerine, alcohol, compound tincture of roses, and camphorwater (five-in-pounds) to be well agitated and applied with fingers before retiring. Let it dry on and wash it off next morning.

When pimples are few but hard and sore and obstinate, a little two percent ammoniated mercury ointment may be rubbed in and a standard ten ointment at night. Or some standard ten

A WOMAN'S BUSINESS

BY ZOE BECKLEY

DRUGGING THE HEART WITH PLAY

To Janet's harassed mind and heart came disturbing doubts as to what business was being run from New York to her. He had told, as part of his kindly concern for her peace of mind, that she would not be needed with any great urgency in the office for the time of her tour. Was it The Office that was coming, to her or Roy Nicoll on some personal prompting? In the condition of nervousness Janet now was, suspicion and fear dominated her.

She met him at the station and his first words reassured her. His errand seemed legitimate. A great feminist writer from England was to address an audience in Carnegie Hall on "Modern Woman" and the editor of "Woman" was invited to preside and speak as well. Nicoll felt that the opportunity was too valuable for Janet or his magazine to lose, and had come with the purpose of readjusting Janet's speaking tour so that she could return to New York and take part in the meeting.

With Nicoll's dynamic talent for orderly thought, the matter was arranged satisfactorily in an hour. Then as though the idea had come to both at the same instant, Janet and Nicoll fell into an embarrassed silence. Nicoll's business was over. Would he be true to the graces of the situation, which demanded his immediate return to New York alone? Janet did not know which she wished him to do. Nicoll knew exactly what he wanted to do; but not what Janet wanted him to do. He regarded her covertly. He saw the unspoken, harassed look in her face. He felt the unspoken nerves in her overtone reaction to everything that suggested the slightest all on her. He turned on her suddenly.

"Look here, Janet. You've been working too hard, worrying too hard, letting down too little. Now, my dear girl, my best interests and those of the magazine are subserved best when in tinct shape. You've simply got to play more for a couple of days—my orders. I want to play with you—or rather to

Spring Frocks Of Winter Materials

By ELOISE.

It is again the between-seasons time of year. It is too warm for the woolen frocks and too cool for the real summer or spring gowns. And one must have a gown and so Lady Duff Gordon designed this attractive dress for afternoon and informal wear. She calls it "YOUTH." The name is always appealing and the gown lives up to the name.

It is distinctly spring-like yet it employs fashion bits from the passing winter. It is a combination of sand colored crepe and black pussy willow satin. The sleeves start out to be loose bell-shaped affairs but suddenly without a warning change their minds and gather in tightly in a black band. There is a point to the peplum of the Russian tunic. It is at the left side in the front and from there the tunic becomes narrower until it is a bare six inches in the back. A row of tiny black satin buttons trim the waist with red and brown head embroidery-finish the sleeves, neckline and tunic edge. Note how gracefully the line formed by the draping of the skirt conforms to the line of the tunic.

SIDE TALKS

—By—RUTH CAMERON

How often people who would not think of saying a word of criticism or disapprobation direct to any individual, will say very harsh, disagreeable things indirectly, using the class to which the individual belongs as a medium through which to speak. Yet she knew he loved his profession.

For instance, the other day I heard a woman say to a group in which there was a newspaper man, "You can't possibly believe anything you read in the news." Reporters are not said in jest with the idea of getting a rise out of the man who is now an editor and was once a reporter. It was simply a clever, unkind, and in the presence of one who is well known to be a loyal member of it.

Again, I heard a woman say to a roomful of married women, in which were just two who had earned their living before they married, that she thought going out into the world and working for one's living made women pushing and unkind. It was something she was careful to add, that they never get over in after life.

She was glad she was fat. And in another group of women, a very fat woman remarked complacently that she was glad she was fat.

Of course, there is always the hypocrite, the person who makes the general statement forgets the presence of the member of the class slammed and afterwards regrets the break.

Your notice I call that a possibility, not a probability.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Smith college will go down in history not perhaps in its capacity as an institution of learning but for its wonderful work at the front during the war. At the very outbreak of hostilities the Smith college students, both the undergraduates and the alumnae, organized the Smith unit, which went overseas immediately after the war. The work of giving soldiers comforts as well as aiding the destitute French and Belgian families in the devastated territories.

Mrs. Garrett Andrews had been director of this famous group of college women in France for one year when the war ended. And during the entire year the women worked within sound of the guns, according to Mrs. Andrews who has just returned to New York.

"Most of the time we were practically under fire from aerial bombs and artillery," she explained, and she told of some of the work of the unit.

"In the last days of the war the unit ran twelve canteens in as many evacuation hospitals. The personnel of the unit at this time numbered 100. Of the unit at this time numbered 100. Of the unit at this time numbered 100.

Peach Salad.—Four halves of canned peaches, lettuce. Fill the hollows of peaches with coconut. Arrange on lettuce hearts. Pour over the dressing.

Maple Dressing.—Three tablespoons salad oil, three tablespoons thick maple syrup. Beat together until frothy. Serve at once.

HOW TO COOK POTATOES.
Stuffed Potatoes.—Bake potatoes as usual. Cut a thin slice from one side. Remove the center of the potato, leaving a core not to break the shell. Wash well, season with salt and paprika, add a small piece of butter or drippings and enough hot milk to make them creamy. Beat with a silver fork until very light. Fill all the shells with the mashed potato. Next add a few hot left over peas, hot creamed chicken or fish, hot left over meats minced and well seasoned, grated cheese, onion butter. Add the remainder of the mashed potato. Return to the oven to re-heat and to brown them on top.

Baked Potatoes on the Half Shell.—Bake potatoes as usual. Cut in halves lengthwise. Remove center and mash and season as for stuffed potatoes. In this case the filling is omitted as it is planned to serve these with meat or fish.

Broiled Potatoes.—Prepare medium sized potatoes as for baking. Place on the broiler far enough from the flame not to be touched. After twenty minutes they should be turned so as to bake evenly on both sides. An advantage of this method is that the same heat used for preparing the dinner may be used without taking up valuable oven space.

Franconia Potatoes.—Pare potatoes and parboil for ten minutes in boiling salted water. Place in pan in which meat is roasting, bake until soft, basting with fat in pan when basting the meat. Bake about forty minutes. Sweet potatoes may be prepared in the same way.

wood and whatever they can obtain to utilize for this purpose. Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Last spring I was going with a young man who I had met and had to go to camp. Before he left he asked to kiss me good-bye, and I let him.

A few months later he came back on furlough and said he would not see me again before going to France. He seemed to love me very much, and before we parted he asked me to marry him if he came back alive and unharmed. I thought I loved him and so I said I would.

We have corresponded regularly since he has been away. He is waiting impatiently to get back so that he can see me and earn enough money so that we can marry. While he has been away I have been going with another young man. He was rejected from the army because of a weak heart. I know I love him and cannot bear the thought of marrying the soldier.

What shall I do? It seems terrible to tell the soldier that I cannot marry him. Should I sacrifice myself and go pretending that I care for when I do not?

MARGARET.

It seems to be "out of sight, out of mind" with you. Perhaps when the soldier returns you will find the same warmth in your regard for him that you felt before he went away. If I were you I would wait until his return before telling him that I cannot marry him. It, upon seeing him again, you know you cannot love him, tell him so. The truth will hurt for a time, but then he will take an interest in some other girl and learn to forget you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I married a man from out of town who took me away to live. I was so homesick I thought I could not stand it and so I begged him to let me come home for a visit. After I had been here several weeks he came down to surprise me and to take me back with him. I was not prepared to go at the time and so I refused.

After that I did not get letters from him. I was so worried that I wrote his name on the back of my hand and carried it with me. I had told him because he knew I no longer loved him.

I have not received any money from him and have been compelled to go to work. I found out from the Red Cross where he was and so I wrote him a letter.

Now I have received one from him. It was very cold and simply told me some of the experiences he has had since he left me. I asked him what he intended to do upon his return about our living together, and he simply ignored the question.

I know now that I love him and it seems to me I can't give him up. Do you think he would have been so cold if he still loved me? He did not mention love and he signed himself "sincerely."

What do you think of this?
G. M. G.

You made a mistake in leaving your husband for so long a time. It is no wonder he got tired of waiting for you. After a girl marries her duty is with her husband, regardless of the fact that she suffers from homesickness at times.

Your husband's letter indicated nothing. Perhaps he thinks that too much eagerness on his part would make you less anxious to return. He is giving you a taste of indifference. Probably when he returns he will go to you and see what can be done to adjust matters. Consider his feelings this time, and forget yourself.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We live in a very small town in which we know everyone that do you think it is proper for three or four girls to walk alone to a high school party about six blocks from our home? It is L. S.

It would be all right to go to the party alone, but if it lasts late you should have some one call for you to take you home.

We the undersigned, members of the Rock County Road and Bridge Committee, wish to give the following statement to the people of the county:

We are convinced that gravel roads can no longer be made to stand on our trunk line system of highways and that the only thing to do is to utilize the money that would otherwise go into the construction and maintenance of gravel roads for the purpose of paying for the construction and liquidation of bonds in the building of concrete roads. The benefits that would ensue are virtually as follows:

It would stop the waste of funds in the building of gravel roads and give us permanent concrete roads in place, which if spread over a period of 20 years would cost us no more. It would take the heavy traffic off of the secondary roads and still leave for the secondary system all funds that have been hitherto available for that work; namely, 50% of all state and county funds must be expended on the secondary system. There will be no abutting property tax and there is no danger of concrete roads being closed to the reasonable use of tractors and threshing outfits as such would not only be against public policy but there would be no reason for it inasmuch as there would be no appreciable injury to the concrete by that sort of traffic.

We wish to state also that we are reliably informed that the present legislature is about to pass a bill increasing the present trunk line system of the state 2200 miles. This would give to Rock County at least 60 miles that are not now on the system and give us a fair chance to adjust the inequalities of the trunk line system of the county as it now exists.

The bond issue will not increase taxes inasmuch as the bonds and interest will be liquidated by the conversion of funds that will come to hand in the next 20 years and that must be expended on this same system either for gravel or concrete.

We submit the above statements in all candor as a result of our study and experience as members of the Rock County Road and Bridge Committee.

(Signed) H. B. MOSELEY,
GEORGE WOODRUFF,
D. A. MCCARTHY,

Rock County Road and Bridge Committee.

Bed Rock Facts About Road Bonds

If no saving whatever is made by constructing a 100-mile system of concrete roads, or in other words, if the taxpayers of Rock County were to dig up every cent—principal and interest—of the proposed $1,500,000, running 20 years at 5% (deducting Federal and State Aid) the tax per $1,000 valuation will be as follows:

1920	1921	1922	1923	1924	1925	1926	1927	1928	1929	1930	1931	1932	1933	1934	1935	1936	1937	1938
0.64	0.61	0.58	0.55	0.52	0.49	0.46	0.43	0.40	0.37	0.34	0.31	0.28	0.25	0.22	0.19	0.16	0.13	0.10

The above estimate was drawn by the Wisconsin State Highway department, based upon a very conservative estimate of a $2,000,000 increase in total valuation each year, beginning with $102,000,000 for 1920.

Keep this fact uppermost, that this amount of money will have to be levied to maintain our present trunk line system of gravel roads if we do not build with concrete.

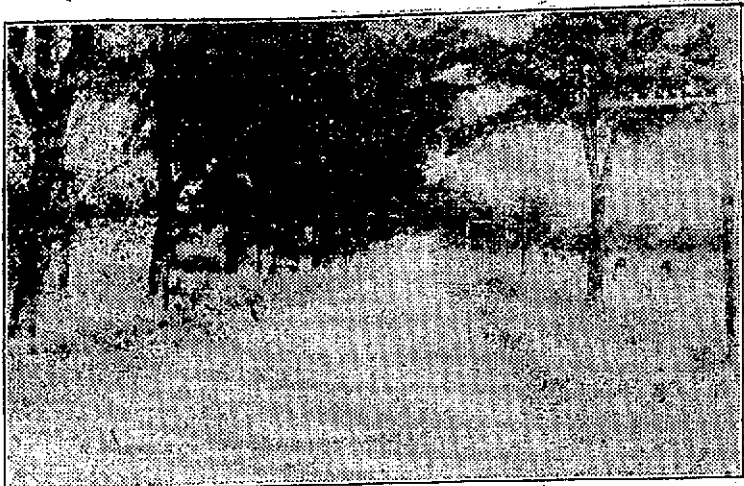

By voting YES on the Rock County Road Bond issue next Tuesday you will place our county officials in a position where they can put an end permanently to the excessive maintenance costs on roads like the above, make travel easy, and pay for a 100-mile system of trunk line concrete roads with the same or less money than will be required to maintain gravel roads.

If the $1,500,000 road bond issue is passed by the voters April 1, the highways shown on the above map by heavy black lines will all be concrete in 5 years. They constitute the proposed 100-mile system.

With the passage of a pending measure in the State legislature to increase the state trunk lines 2200 miles, Rock County will get at least 60 miles in addition to her present system as outlined above. Beloit will then get an additional concrete road from Beloit to Orfordville.

Let them amble and frolic, their toes ON THE EARTH! No bossy JANITOR to chill their exuberance, no LANDLORD'S ball-and-chain to their feet!

Close your EYES for a moment, you grown-ups! Can't you see again the WOOD with winding path—the CREEK fringed with shade—the SWIMMIN' HOLE—and OLD FRIEND DOG shagging along by your side, companion in every adventure?—

Give your OWN boys and girls room to EXPAND—room to shake the KINKS out of their legs—room to TUSSELE and TUMBLE on their OWN GRASS PLOTS! Let not the pictures that cling be of narrow FLATS and cramped CITY STREETS, but PICTURES of GOD'S OUT-OF-DOORS!

So long as LOVE OF HOME lives, VIRTUE will live! A man never feels quite so much A MAN, as the day he STARTS PAYING FOR A HOME!

If you can PAY RENT you can BUY! It is largely a matter of THINKING you can—and MAKING THE START!

In most countries, home-ownership is only for the RICH. In bountiful America, and in a thriving city such as this, ANY industrious wage-earner, salaried employe or small business man may in a few years acquire title to a cozy property ALL HIS OWN.

BUY a Lot and Build!

Once the lot is yours, you can go to the BANK or BUILDING association, or to a good CONTRACTOR and BUILDER of HOMES, and arrange for the house of your DREAMS! DO IT AT ONCE.

Rents are going up! They are sky high in Janesville. There's only one answer! Buy a LOT—and begin to make ready for OWNERSHIP! Save for it! Plan for it! Work for it!

All good people are FOR the man who is striving to DO SOMETHING toward GETTING UP in the world—and the industrious employe who sticks to his JOB, and is known to be PAYING FOR A HOME—is PREFERRED HELP ANYWHERE!

Atterbury cost hundreds

We will gladly give you the name of the man who made the above statement. That was his reason why he bought an Atterbury for his company (which is rated at $2,000,000-A.)

Other officers of his company are financially interested in other motor-vehicle factories. None of them is financially interested in the Atterbury Company.

"Furthermore," said this Atterbury user, "our Atterbury has cost us less to run. We have found that the Atterbury gives us better service at less repair-cost and lower fuel-cost than the boasted records of the other 'best' trucks."

The above reasons are some of the many why the demand for Atterburys has caused us to quadruple our production-capacity. In doing so, however, we are not in any way departing from our 8-year-old-policy, which is:—"Don't try to make the most trucks, but try to make trucks that will do most."

To any responsible party, we will gladly send information on how to save money on their truck-purchase and truck-upkeep.

MR. FARMER:

YOU ARE INTERESTED IN "THE MOST EFFICIENT TRACTOR IN THE WORLD", READ THE SPECIFICATIONS OF

THE FORDSON FARM TRACTOR

Manufactured By HENRY FORD & SON, Dearborn, Michigan

At the rate of 250 per day. 7500 per month. Wisconsin Farmers have already purchased 900 Fordsons in less than a year.

PERFORMANCE

The tractor is designed as a two-plow machine and will pull two 14-inch plows in the stiffest soil. It will maintain a drawbar pull of 1800 pounds at plowing speed. In low gear a drawbar pull of 2500 pounds is obtained. The fuel consumption varies with conditions; two and one-half gallons of kerosene per acre being a fair average. The amount of ground plowed also depends on conditions; eight acres in ten hours would strike an average.

When used at stationary work and running at full power, at 1000 R. P. M., the fuel consumption does not exceed two and three-fourth gallons per hour.

The total weight of tractor is 2700 pounds, with water and fuel tanks filled. Over-all length is 102 inches, height 55 inches and width 62 inches.

ENGINE

Four cylinder, four cycle, cylinders are cast en bloc. Cylinder bore, four inches; piston stroke, five inches. Removable Cylinder Head: This allows easy access to the valves, pistons and cylinders; the crank case is easily removed so that all interior parts of the engine may be reached without taking the tractor apart.

Horsepower: The engine develops twenty-two horsepower when running at 1000 revolutions per minute, and using kerosene.

Lubrication: Splash system; the oil circulation is maintained by the centrifugal action of the flywheel on the oil in the flywheel casing.

COOLING

Thermo-Syphon System: The very large water jackets and radiator tanks used with a vertical tube radiator insure a continuous flow of water and efficient cooling. This works in connection with a belt-driven ball bearing fan.

IGNITION

Special design magneto, built in and made part of the motor, used in combination with four coils and a commutator. This system is simple and reliable.

VAPORIZER

The tractor is equipped with a special design vaporizer, which heats the kerosene vapor, and mixing it with fresh, cool air, supplies a dry explosive mixture to the cylinders. To start the engine gasoline is used and after about one minute when the vaporizer is sufficiently heated, it is shifted to kerosene.

Fuel is supplied by gravity from a twenty-one gallon overhead tank.

AIR WASHER

The air supply is drawn through water. The wear on the cylinder walls is thus greatly reduced because of all dust having been removed from the air.

CLUTCH

Multiple steel disc running in oil.

Ballplayers! Be at the Gazette Office at 7:30 Tonight!

By George McManus.

CAND DATES INCLUDE TWO SLAB STARS

(By K. L. EAGAN)

With five regular players—including two crack slab artists—and up, the new Jansville baseball team took on definite shape today.

A tentative lineup will be drawn tonight at the special baseball meeting, called for 7:30 p. m. at the Gazette editorial rooms. All the players who have left their names with the writer, together with every ballplayer in Jansville—amateur, semi-pro, or professional—is urged to attend this meeting. Plans for organizing Jansville's own ball club will be made, and the first practice date—probably a week from Sunday—will be set.

Here are the names of the players who have already called on the writer and asked for a place on the team:

George Berger, pitcher.
L. P. Short, shortstop.
Warren Schauer, catcher.
Axel Peterson, pitcher.
William Lohman, fielder.
The Gazette's crack baseball team, which has been playing in the city since the late season, is being reorganized. It is a real team, notwithstanding the fact that it is a past.

Industrial League Plan.
If a first-class club to represent the city cannot be formed, efforts will be made to organize an industrial league, with teams from eight of the principal plants in town. The winner of this tournament would be officially presented with the city championship flag and could take on all outside teams next season.

There are many ways that Jansville can have a real team—not merely one or two baseball players, who play when they like, and with whom they like.

Interest in the possibility of Jansville having a real team was spread to Milwaukee and Madison, and there have been inquiries from both cities. If we do assemble a formidable collection of players, we will be able to sign up for some real contests. This will give the people of Jansville a chance to see some real hot games, and will give over some of the big league stars who helped to win (or lose) pennants.

Let's Hear From You.
Now: The writer will be pleased to hear from any one in the city willing to finance a real club, capable of taking on such teams as Beloit, Madison and crack teams from Chicago and Milwaukee.

Will, too, various industrial plants ask me to communicate with the baseball editor as to whether they would be interested in joining an industrial league of eight teams, with games every Sunday.

"BLOOD ON THE MOON" WHEN RICHIE MITCHELL TAKES ON SOLLY BURNS

(BY KID BIFF)

When Richie Mitchell, enters the ring in the Milwaukee Auditorium April 4th as principal in the Cream City Athletic Club's popular priced show, there will be "Blood on the Moon."

Mitchell's opponent will be Solly Burns, who takes the place of Johnny Dundee, and Burns, who is known, just a year ago, secured a popular decision over the south side blonde in Rock Island.

Richie Must Hustle.
Richie will have to step some to bring home the bacon, if reports from St. Paul papers are true. The scribbles in the Twin cities, writing on the recent Burns-Faulson mix-up, use such words as "plugging without mercy," "dandy blows," and "wonderful show," to describe the work of Burns. And it is admitted that an outside boxer has to go some to get praise in the four city.

Burns packs a deadly punch in either hand and carries a marvelous defense and offense as well. He is a speed demon and reminds one much of Rocky in his rushing, slashing ring tactics.

Reverse is Promise.
Twenty-one fast, round, three matches will precede the main go. Otto Wallace and Young Dennis, long time rivals, will meet for the second time over the ten-round route. The last occasion was one of sorrow for the wop as he was worn down and sent to dreamland by Wallace. He promises to reverse the result this time.

Matt Ade and Frank Harvey, speedy welters, will hook up for the second time. Both boys are exceptionally speedy and hard hitters and the match promises to be a whirlwind affair.

A three round opener, who principals yet to be placed, will be purchased for the Mitchell-Dundee fight will be accepted at the door without the necessity of exchange.

ALL RIGHT, LET'S HAVE THE FIRST BOX SCORE!

Come on, you baseball bugs! What team is going down on record this bright and prosperous year with the first box score? Send it to the Baseball Editor of The Gazette.

On a paper each evening. Call him or telephone to him and make sure that you have the Gazette delivered—HIDE ON CONCRETE—

Man Who Reaches the Top.
The steadily successful man is neither rash nor timid. He is prudent and courageous. He will take a chance where there is a reasonable prospect of success, but he will not rush into a venture blindly nor be so cautious as never to take any risk.—Irish World.

OAT SMUT
Treat your oats, barley or Rye with Formaldehyde, the only safe remedy for smut. Use it either with water or by the dry method.

Bring your own bottles to us to be filled and save money. We are still selling it at the old price. Get it at once as the price will be higher.

One in Seven
Is your chance of reaching the top of this pole. No doubt you would rather be excused from attempting to climb it. The rush is too great. One out of every seven persons meets death through an accident. Has it ever occurred to you that the shadow of death is forever skulking behind every footstep you take? It may be a street car, auto or one of many other ways in which accidents happen. Can you afford to continue to take these chances daily without a thought to the protection of yourself and those dependent on you?

At a cost of 6¢ a day, we issue a policy covering sickness, accident and death, paying $60 to $120 monthly benefits. Isn't it foolish to postpone the important matter, when the cost of protection is so cheap?

Gentlemen: I wish a policy sent on approval to Name..... Address..... Age..... Occupation.....

VOTERS OF JANESVILLE— MEN AND WOMEN, LISTEN!

The New High School Bond Issue to be Voted Upon Next Tuesday is the Most Important Question That Ever Has Come to Your Attention.

Upon your decision next Tuesday will rest the decision whether Janesville advances or takes a backward step.

The 675 members of the Chamber of Commerce, through the members council, has fully approved the New High School Bond Issue.

It will be considered a calamity if the issue should fail of passage. Women--Mothers--you can vote.

The General Motors Corporation believes proper school facilities as important as building houses and they are. Our children should and must come first.

The proper kind of workmen cannot be secured to operate the plant that is going to develop Janesville from a small city to a metropolis if school facilities are not adequate.

Because of the spirit manifest in Janesville the world outside has directed its attention to Janesville. Shall we lose this prestige so won.

Everybody agrees we need a new High School--no one disputes that fact. Failure to pass the Bond Issue at this time will block the city's growth. Have you thought of that.

This is your city--your home town--you are proud to live here--you wish Janesville to grow--you must realize our chance is here--defeated the Bond Issue and growth must stop--new residents will not stay even if they do come.

Houses and jobs are useless if the children are without proper school accommodation. Think--Think--Think --Then act and get your neighbor and his wife to act.

We are counting on you to maintain the proud position Janesville now occupies in the estimation of others and yourself.
